

Paul Smith's College Cantwell Hall Renovations

Client:

Paul Smith's College

Location:

Paul Smith's, New York

Project:

The renovation project provided needed improvements to Cantwell Hall's classroom and culinary kitchen training spaces. A new addition provided required faculty offices in the second floor, and a new Delivery/Receiving area with walk-in cooler storage. The existing teaching kitchen for the Culinary Arts Division underwent a major upgrade including the replacement of electric ovens with new state-of-the-art commercial gas ovens.

The new teleconferencing Information Center is wired with the latest in technological services.

The new teaching kitchen necessitated a complete re-working of the building's waste drainage system. The existing 4" sewer lines running through the existing dirt floor crawl space of the building were replaced with (2) 6" lines, with grease interceptors to tie into the College's septic system as required by code.
